Children's Water Festival Needs Volunteers!

Plans are well under way for the 16th Annual Children's Water Festival to be held Thursday, May 10, 2012 at Michigan State University. The purpose of the festival is to educate local fourth, fifth, and sixth grade students about water resources and their role in protecting and conserving it. If you or anyone from your agency is interested in volunteering, please contact Erin Campbell at ecampbell@mitcrpc.org.

New Tool Provides Access to Water Pollution Data

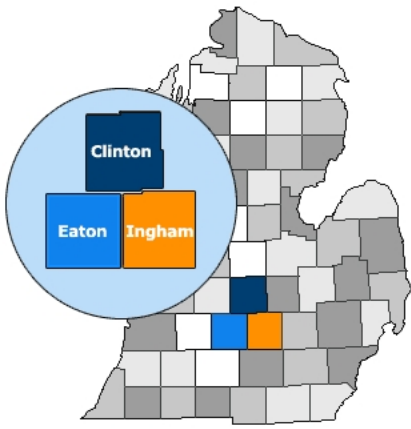

EPA announced the release of a new tool that provides the public with important information about pollutants that are released into local waterways. The discharge monitoring report pollutant loading tool brings together millions of records and allows for easy searching and mapping of water pollution by local area, watershed, company, industry sector and pollutant. The public can use this new tool to protect their health and the health of their communities. Visit the website: www.http://cfpub.epa.gov/dmr.

Save the Dates: MWEA Watershed Summit and Quiet Water Symposium

The 17th annual Quiet Water Symposium is scheduled for March 3, 2012 at the Michigan State University (MSU) Agriculture Pavilion in East Lansing, MI. The symposium celebrates non-motorized outdoor recreation and a shared concern for our Great Lakes environment. The symposium is a key feature of MSU Agriculture and Natural Resources Week. For more information visit the website:

www.quietwatersymposium.org.

The Michigan Water Environment Association (MWEA) is holding the Michigan Watershed Summit on March 28, 2012 at Eagle Eye Banquet Facility in Bath, MI. The purpose of the summit is to bring together all of Michigan's watershed groups to network, learn and interact with each other regarding current activities, concerns, lessons learned and success. Breakout sessions will also be available. For more information visit the website: www.mivea.org.

Look for the GLRC educational display at both these events.
